

diplomatische akademie wien
Vienna School of International Studies
École des Hautes Études Internationales de Vienne

U.S. Embassy Vienna

EUROPÄISCHES PARLAMENT
Informationsbüro in Österreich

Vienna
Private University

present

Lee A. Brudvig
Deputy Chief of Mission, U.S. Embassy Vienna

The Future of Fracking and Unconventional Gas and Oil Resources

Welcome and Moderation:

Prof. Dr. Samuel R. Schubert
Head of Department of International Relations
Webster University, Vienna Campus

Monday, March 31, 2014, 5:30 pm

Please register by e-mail: programs@usembassy.at

This event is part of the Energy Talks series.

Mr. Lee A. BRUDVIG is the Deputy Chief of Mission (DCM) at the U.S. Embassy in Vienna. Mr. Brudvig joined the U.S. Department of State as a career diplomat and Economic Officer in 1984. He has served previously as DCM at the U.S. Mission in Nairobi and to the UN in Rome, Economic Minister-Counselor in New Delhi, Political/Economic Counselor in Vienna, Regional Natural Resources Officer in Pretoria and Johannesburg, Economic Officer in Guangzhou, Financial Economist in the office of Monetary Affairs Washington, D.C. and Economic/Consular Officer in Mbabane, Manila, and Nairobi. Having spent most of his career in the developing world, he has a strong commitment to sustainable economic development, multilateral diplomacy, poverty alleviation, and humanitarian assistance.

By participating in this event you consent to the publication of images/videos taken during the event. Follow us on:

